XX July 2011

Schüco Open generates huge interest

Nearly all tickets for Sunday have been sold – tickets are still available for the Schüco Match Play on Saturday

Bielefeld. The 2011 Schüco Open has generated huge interest among golf enthusiasts in Düsseldorf, North Rhein Westphalia and across Germany. Almost all the tickets for the Sunday had sold out two weeks before the event, due to take place on 30th and 31st July at the Hubbelrath Golf Club in Dusseldorf. This confirms the prediction made by Schüco brand ambassador and participant, Martin Kaymer, who commented; "the first two events in Bielefeld and Teutoburger Wald were very successful, but Düsseldorf will top them both."

A small number of tickets will be retained for those who decide last minute that they would like to attend, and will be available from the box office, priced at 15 euros.

There is also the opportunity on Saturday 30th July to watch and admire the skills of eleven of the world's top ranking professional golfers in the flesh. At 3.30pm on this day, the highly anticipated Match Play team competition, based on the format of the Ryder Cup, will be played over nine holes. In addition to Martin Kaymer, who was born in Mettmann only 10 kilometres from the Hubbelrath Golf Club, a further ten brand ambassadors and international superstars will also be taking part in the competition: the two Americans Dustin Johnson and Bubba Watson, Spain's Álvaro Quirós and Miguel Ángel Jiménez, Geoff Ogilvy (Australia), Liang Wenchong (China), Ian Poulter (England), Grégory Havret (France) and Edoardo Molinari (Italy). The German colours will also be represented by one of the most promising junior players, Maximilian Kieffer, who is playing on home turf at the Hubbelrath Golf Club. Tickets, priced at 10 euros, are still available for this prelude to the 2011 Schüco Open.

If you would like to enjoy an unforgettable day of golf in the exclusive VIP lounge on Sunday 31st July, complete with an A-list hospitality package and the opportunity to attend the press conference with the winner of the coveted Winner's Cup, more information about VIP tickets can be obtained by emailing vip@schueco.com.
